PROJECT DESCRIPTION:

Title: Bridging the Gap between the University and Employment

Objectives

In recent years, there are several initiatives to plug the gap between the universities and the employment sectors in Information and Communication Technology (ICT). These initiatives have been documented in many workshops, conferences and researches. The gap is due to the lack in employment vacancies and the lack of practical skills and experiences in the field of ICT. There is a need for a cooperation between universities and ICT sectors, government to bridge the gap between the skills and experiences gained at the universities and the skill and experience needed in employment

We aim to collaborate for a joint project to achieve the following objectives:

1. Transferring Knowledge and skills from European partner universities to Palestinian universities;
2. Provide training programs to qualify graduates students in ICT for jobs in Palestine and in the region
3. Enhancing academic degree in ICT with the key skills and experience to meet the business demand.
4. Involving the private sector in the academic programs to meet market needs.

Activities

- Training & Technical Needs assessment study
- Visit of European partners to Palestine and vice versa
- Training & Development for academia and experts from private sector
